

ETHAN MYERS
CURRICULUM VITAE
Fall 2018

Email: EthanMyers2020@u.northwestern.edu

Mailbox: Linguistics Dept.
2016 N. Sheridan Rd.
Evanston, IL 60208 USA

---

EDUCATION	Ph.D. in Linguistics 2020 Northwestern University, Evanston, IL
	Master's of Arts in Linguistics 2015 Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN Advising Committee: Elaine Francis (Advisor), Lori Czerwionka, Ronnie Wilbur, Wei Hong
	Bachelor's of Arts in Linguistic, Spanish 2013 Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN
PUBLICATIONS	Sentence final particles in Shanghainese: navigating the left periphery. (2015). Ethan Myers. MA Thesis, Purdue University
PRESENTATIONS &amp; TALKS	What can if-stripping tell us about ellipsis? (Forthcoming). Masaya Yoshida, Ethan Myers. Talk. North East Linguistics Society (NELS) 49th Annual Meeting , October 5-7
	Where does the mind go? Lessons from wh-adjunct processing (2017). Ethan Myers. Presentation. Semi-annual meeting of Northwestern Sentence PROcessing: Computation, Experiments &amp; Theory , November 20
	What plants tell us about the Mayangna meronymy system. (2013). Elena Benedicto, Mayangna Yulbarangyang Balna, Ethan Myers, and Alyson Eggleston. Presentation. Symposium on Meronymy across Languages: Lexicalization, Semantics, Morphosyntax . Instituto de Investigaciones Antropológicas, of the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México, Sept 27-28
RESEARCH	Lab Member Syntax, Semantics, and Sentence Processing Lab (SSSP) 2015-Pres
	Purdue Experimental Linguistics Lab (PELL) 2015 Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN
	Graduate Research Assistant Indigenous and Endangered Language Lab 2012-2015 Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN

TEACHINGGraduate Teaching Assistant

2017-Present

Northwestern University, Evanston, IL

Sound Patterns in Human Language - An undergraduate linguistics course covering the introductory stages and fundamental mechanics of human speech perception.

Language and Prejudice - An undergraduate linguistics course introducing linguistic manifestations of prejudice from various sources: region, gender, race, ethnicity, social class, sexual orientation, and country of origin.

Graduate Teaching Assistant

2014-2015

Purdue University, West Lafayette, IN

Foundations of Syntax and Semantics - An undergraduate linguistics course covering the introductory stages and fundamental mechanics of generative syntactic and semantic analysis.

SERVICEGraduate Student Representative

2016

*Northwestern University, Evanston, IL*English Language Tutor

2016-Pres

*Northwestern English Language ProgramsNorthwestern University, Evanston, IL*Social Media Coordinator

2015

*Northwestern University, Evanston, IL*Co-Organizer Semantics and Syntax Workshop for the American Midwest and Prairies (SSWAMP)

2015

*Northwestern University, Evanston, IL*Co-Chair for 2014 Annual Linguistic Symposium

2014

*Purdue University, West Lafayette, INLANGUAGES

English (Native), Spanish (Fluent, Bachelor's Degree), Mandarin Chinese (Beginner), Shanghainese (Intermediate, Research)

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

Linguistic Society of America

2013-Pres

Purdue Linguistics Association

2013-2015

CERTIFICATION

Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative at University of Miami

Social Behavioral Research

Key Personnel: Social and Behavioral Conduct

2011 – Pres

2011 – Pres